Delegation leaders shared their thoughts on the event:

Ron Pelham, High-Performance Program Director of the Arizona Region commented, “The 2023 USAV All-Star Championships was a tremendous success. The growth of the tournament from its inaugural event in Orlando to its current event in Fort Lauderdale has been impressive. There is no doubt that the Region Volleyball Associations (RVA) came together to create a successful and high-quality tournament.

The Planning Committee leadership has been outstanding, with all members contributing valuable input and making important decisions. Teams from many regions participated and competed against one another, which was fantastic to see. Bringing talent and skills from across the country together was a great way to foster a sense of unity.”

“Thank you to all the officials who participated in this event”, stated Steve Kenyon, Chair of the Official’s Planning Committee. “With 155 officials (76 referees/scorers and 79 support officials) from 22 different states, it was a great crew with a good balance of experienced officials and rising stars. The knowledge exchange that took place during the post-match debriefs was very helpful. I would also like to thank the Florida Region for hosting the event and funding our three international level training officials: Michael Gale, Krystian Krzyzak, and Devonie Mclarty. Their input was very valuable and appreciated.”

“This annual legacy event is very important to the USA Volleyball regions as it continues a longstanding tradition that began back in 2000”, commented Steve Bishop, Executive Director & President for the Florida Region and Tournament Director for this year’s event in Ft. Lauderdale. “As one of the few USAV coed junior events on the schedule and the only one of its kind using an international format, Florida is proud to have hosted it 9 times in the Sunshine State. The USA teams have always enjoyed the participation of the international delegations over the many years. We’re very appreciative to Visit Lauderdale for their amazing financial support, as well as our other great event partners. We’ve officially passed the baton to Brett Myres and his team at the Iowa Region as they will host next year’s event in Des Moines, IA, between July 17-21, 2024. We look forward to seeing everyone there!”
